June, 1963.

To the Chairman and Members of the Council.

Gentlemen,

I have the honour to present the sixteenth Annual Report since the inception of the scheme of Divisional Health administration.

Under the Divisional Health Scheme your Medical Officer of Health is also Divisional Medical Officer for the West Riding County Council's local health services and has similar functions in the Borough of Todmorden, the Urban Districts of Sowerby Bridge and Hebden Royd and the Rural District of Hepton. The scheme has led to a closer integration of local authority health services.

In 1962 the birth rate increased to 14.6 but although this is the highest level attained since 1957, it is still considerably below the rate for the county and the country as a whole. There were no infant or maternal deaths in the year. The death rate was 11.1, the principal causes of death being degenerative conditions of the heart and circulatory systems, and cancer. The excess of births over deaths is a reversal of the trend established in Ripponden in recent years, a trend which has contributed towards the decline in population of 410 reported in the 1961 census.

Of the infectious diseases, only measles occurred in significant numbers in 1962. There were two distinct episodes, the first being a small number of cases in the early summer, and later the disease returned to the district in November, causing a further 59 cases to be notified before it died out in February of this year.

Once again no cases of whooping cough were notified and the average incidence of this infection for the last five years is less than 2 each year. The average for the five years ending in 1957 was 15, and for that ending in 1952 over 20 a year. This steady reduction in the incidence of whooping cough is almost certainly related to the number of young children now protected against the disease. In the youngest and most vulnerable age groups, at least 70% have been vaccinated under the County Council's scheme.

In the early months of the year widespread alarm was caused by an outbreak of smallpox in the Bradford area. There were numerous demands for vaccination as a result of the press and television publicity given to mass vaccination which was advocated or practised by several authorities. There was an unfortunate lack of co-ordination and even neighbouring districts were given conflicting advice. In Ripponden, as in most of the West Riding area, vaccination was restricted to those at risk and this enabled staff to be released to give assistance in controlling the outbreak.

The report shows a considerable increase in the number of vaccinations carried out in the year, mostly by general practitioners.

The work of the mental health service was first reported last year and the figures for 1962 show a further increase in the demands on the service. Admissions of patients to hospital have increased by some 50 % and almost twice as many visits have been paid by the mental welfare officers. Much of this has been due to the establishment of an acute psychiatric unit in the Halifax General Hospital in which, for the first time, treatment has been available locally. There has been a rapid turnover of patients in this unit, with the emphasis on keeping the mentally ill in the community as far as possible and maintaining supervision and contact through the out-patients department and psychiatric social club. This is a most encouraging development, although it produces an increasing volume of work for the local health authority's staff.

The chiropody service which is conducted by the Ripponden Old People's Welfare Committee continued to expand last year, and 96 persons received 516 treatments in the Centre or the chiropodists surgery, and a further 38 persons who could not attend received 185 treatments at home.

Milk sampling continued in 1962, much of it on a voluntary basis by farmers wishing to eliminate infection from their herds. In all, Brucella organisms were isolated on 14 occasions (12.6 % of samples). In each case the animal responsible was identified and steps taken to prevent its milk being retailed unpasteurised. It was not necessary to serve any legal notices under the Milk and Dairies Regulations, 1959, in the course of the year. As far as is known there were no cases of brucella infection in humans in the district in 1962, and much of the credit for this may well be due to the action of the milk producers and the help they have received from the health department.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the members of the Council for their kindness, patience and co-operation and to thank Mr. Sharples, Public Health Inspector and Surveyor, for his kindness and efforts to give me the sanitary circumstances of the area, and indeed to all you officials with whom I made contacts, personal and official.

I am,

Yours faithfully,

N. E. GORDON, M.B., B.Ch., D.P.H.,

Medical Officer of Health.
